empowering citizen activists. We pursue this mission through our Nuclear Safety, International Reform, Corporate Accountability, Food & Drug Safety, and Federal Employee/Homeland Security programs. GAP is the nation's leading whistleblower protection organization

o In November, the Index on Censorship, a journal based in London, UK, published our 3,000-word article, "Breaking the Silence," in a special issue devoted to the Bush administration and censorship.

o In July, the EPA released a major report identifying significant climate change consequences. We called on the White House to embrace the report, held interviews on radio and were quoted in USA Today.

o In May, the Bush administration reluctantly issued a long overdue climate change report in response to a federal court order following a critical case Piltz supported with a 12,000-word Declaration and 25 exhibits.

o Using information we presented in hearing testimony and documentation, the House Oversight and Government Reform Committee released a report on Bush administration interference with climate science o GAP and the Safe Food Coalition are working to promote interventions that can help reduce or eliminate the presence of E. coli and other pathogens, like Salmonella, that threaten our nation's food supply. GAP is currently aiding a whistleblower who blew the whistle on the unsanitary conditions responsible for a major salmonella outbreak in 2008.

o GAP also worked with: an FDA Chemist to uncover FDA's food sampling data with chlorinated dioxins, one of the planet's most toxic contaminants.

Overseeing the Drug Industry:

o GAP also assisted clients exposing significant drug safety risks, such as: batches of eye solutions and ear drops which failed to meet FDA quality standards and a possible compromise of the drug study for a leading Fibromyalgia drug.

o GAP also worked with a FDA Safety officer who, because of her negative review of a drug, was wrongly removed from her work and suffered a groundless criminal investigation.

Defense Contractors:

in the U.S. Marines Corps (USMC) securing of armor vehicles, costing the lives of countless American troops.

Our client is a senior civilian science advisor to the USMC, who while serving in Iraq saw first hand the consequences of the USMC bureaucracy's failure to respond to urgent need requests submitted by general officers on Mine Resistant Ambush Protected vehicles. We worked with our client to raise these issues with Congress and the media.

Corporate Report:

o In September GAP released a report which surveys the landscape of corporate whistleblower laws, and recommends strategies for corporate whistleblowers to best protect themselves from future retaliation. We have published this report to serve as a corporate whistleblower guidebook for whistleblowers and their attorneys.

Corporate Whistleblower Rights, Public Education & Preparation for Test Litigation:

o On June 23, GAP's new National Whistleblower Rights Implementation Campaign organized a high profile conference with American University, Washington College of Law on the new whistleblower laws which resulted in an increase in the momentum for public and congressional support to strengthen whistleblower rights. The Campaign also held a webinar, co-sponsored by the National Employment Lawyers Association. The webinar offered basic training for employment attorneys in effectively litigating corporate whistleblower claims under the new Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act.

o Over the last year there has been a revolution in whistleblower protection for corporate employees directly resulting from GAP's work. We have begun testing these new laws and to ensure their proper implementation. These laws include whistleblower protections for all corporate employees who work: (i.) on the sale and manufacturing of the 14,000 products regulated by the Consumer Product Safety Commission (an estimated 20 million employees); (ii.) for defense contractors (over 1 million employees); and (iii.) for ground transportation and trucking companies (over half a million employees).

role we played in former World Bank President Paul Wolfowitz's resignation in 2007. As a result of our consultation with the Bank on a final version of the policy, the Executive Board of Directors has approved a new whistleblower protection policy as Staff Rule 8.02.

GAP continues to pursue the case of a World Bank whistleblower involving defective HIV test kits in India that report high rates of false negatives. Our challenge has now expanded to include our own Center for Disease Control (CDC) which was pulled into the controversy by the World Bank to question our finding.

We have played a key role in exposing corruption at a prominent computer services company with contractual ties to 185 Fortune 500 companies, the World Bank, the United Nations, and the U.S. Government.
